The blooded cow for the Found: Dr. W. W. Parker sent the following to the Dispatch last night:

Mr. J. W. Billey, in response to my call through the press yesterday, informed me on the street to-day that he had sent me a fresh, blooded cow for the Founding Hospital, with "feed and bedding." Who can beat this? If Mr. Billey could realize with what gusto the little innocents will drink in this life-giving fuid he would be amply repaid for his generous gift.

Personals and Briefs.

RECEPTION TO REV. DR. TUDOR.

Young Men's Society of Broad-

The Young Men's Society of BroadStreet Methodist church tendered their pastor, Rev. Dr. W. V. Tudor, who will soon be transferred to another field, a delightful reception last night. The Sundayschool room was beautifully decorated, and the handsomely-set tables, taden with choice catables, were adorned with parlor-lamps.

Mr. James P. Stubbs conducted the exercises, and on the platform with him were Dr. Tudor and Mr. S. E. Bishop, Quite an interesting musical programmein which Messrs, Conway Gordon, James Harris, and C. W. Hunter, and Mrs. C. E.
Bringle participated-was rendered. Mr.
Stubbs delivered an ornate address, in which he eulogized Dr. Tudor, who concitides his pastorate of Broad-Street church with to-morrow, and set forth to some extent the great good that had been accomplished by the society. Dr. Tudor responded to the address in a few words, which, while to some extent humorous, were also full of sound logic and replete with kindly advice and counsel for the future.
